

ADM Names UD CHEMIE GmbH as a 2021 Supplier Award Winner

Wörrstadt, Feb. 8, 2021—UD CHEMIE GmbH has been named a 2021 Supplier Award winner by ADM (NYSE: ADM). During a virtual ceremony, ADM honored seven companies based on superior performance and the ability to deliver exceptional value to ADM and its customers.

“We rely on our suppliers and vendor partners to help us maintain the entire global food supply chain in a reliable, efficient and sustainable manner,” said Camille Batiste, ADM Senior Vice President of Global Supply Chain and Procurement. “We appreciate the continued partnership with UD CHEMIE GmbH and are pleased to recognize their significant contributions to ADM with this award.”

The award criteria was based on both hard and soft data points from the supplier scorecard process, as well as direct feedback from ADM stakeholders. Awards were presented to non-commodity suppliers across seven categories: Value in Excellence, Safety Excellence, Quality, Sustainability, Service in Excellence, Supplier Diversity, and Supplier of the Year.

UD CHEMIE GmbH received the Service in Excellence Award this year.

About UD CHEMIE GmbH

The company UD CHEMIE GmbH was founded in 1984 by Uwe L.F. Dubberke. The family business, headquartered in Wörrstadt in Rhine-Hesse, expanded due to challenges in the market from a contractual partner of international manufacturers of quality raw materials to a refinement plant for functional, carefully balanced and specification-compliant liquid and dry compounds for the pharmaceutical, construction material, food and beverage industries. The management has been particularly active in operational activities from the very beginning. The corporate group consists of the headquarters UD CHEMIE GmbH, the wholly owned subsidiary, LECKER'S Bio Manufaktur GmbH and the partner companies UD CHEMIE Moscow and UD CHEMIE Tallinn, generating an annual turnover of around € 70,000,000 with a total of 100 employees.
